

SPEED DATING WITH A TWIST

Set up chairs in two circles, a small circle and a larger circle outside of that. Make sure that the chairs are facing each other and there are an equal amount of chairs in the inside circle as well as the outside circle.

The format or idea of how the game is played is like speed dating. Every teen will sit across from another teen. The leader will ask a question for the teens to answer before those sitting in the outside circle rotate clockwise. Each teen will have 30 seconds to answer the question. Use a timer with an alarm that will signal the teens to rotate after 1 minute.

Below is a list of questions you can use during the icebreaker.
